We could use a motivated website editor as Mark has become very busy with a 3 year old and needs a break from club responsibilities. Contact your treasurer if you are interested

Well I now have a new Spectra glider. It is made by Great Planes I picked it up quite a while ago. I have flown it several times in a large park it flies pretty well. I have changed some of the setup by disabling the power input from the speed control. I found it seemed to interfere with the rest of the radio. On its first flight I landed it on a small hill that was at the park that I was flying it at. Once I was behind the hill I think there was a rotor and it caused the glider to smack the ground harder than it needed to be. This caused the thrust battery to crash through the 2Nd former, one more thing to fix. OH Well it's still fun to fly.

See you at the field SOON Oren
